WIS. DAIRY TRAIN OUST SCRUB SIRE WILL TOUR STATES IN LA CROSSE CO.

Demonstration to be Given in Many States on Badger Cattle and Records.

June 16 has been set for the departure of the Wisconsin "Trans-continental Dairy Special" which will leave West Bend and make a tour through western states, including Minnesota, North Dakota, Utah, Idaho, Montana and possibly Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska. The demonstration train is made possible through the efforts of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' Association and the College of Agriculture, and for its purpose, the advertising of Wisconsin dairy cattle.

There is an educational motive in sending the train out complete with 15 head of cattle, picked as representing various phases of development of the industry in Wisconsin. It is hoped to convey through the west, a knowledge of the results obtained by Wisconsin farmers in the breeding dairy stock.

All breed associations and prominent men in the development of dairying in Wisconsin are cooperating with the agricultural college in putting across this educational exhibit.

To Give Demonstrations

Frequent stops will be made on the route to exhibit the stock and hold demonstrations. Arrangements are being made to have the foremost advocates of dairying in each of the states visited, accompany the train through the respective states in which they reside.

Farmers in states like Idaho, Nevada, the Dakotas are seeking to enter the dairying game. They are attempting to diversify their agricultural interests to have a combination that will not result in disastrous bumps in the period of poor crops or poor markets.

Those who want to increase their revenue and obtain a regular income the year around.

Consequently they are turning to Wisconsin for breeding stock, information and advise.

The purpose of the train is to acquaint the western farmers with Wisconsin's dairy industry, the breeds of the state and the newest breed types. It is an error to believe that the farmers of Idaho and Nevada have only to buy Wisconsin cattle and then be right in the height of the dairy business. It takes training, experience and knowledge to produce maximum return from dairy herd, no matter how good the cattle.

The demonstration train will go a long way to helping the western farmers in getting started right and keeping right for success.

A. E. Hopkins, director of the agricultural journalism department at the College, has been named as the public-relations man of the enterprise. When D. W. Davis, former governor of Idaho was in Wisconsin, it was suggested the dairy train be organized. He declared western states have possibilities in the development of dairying far outstripping the Badger state.

Boost Badger Cattle

The demonstration will help in the sale and advertising of Wisconsin cattle.

Showing the correct type of dairy animals, explaining their records will aid in educating western farmers in the leadership of Wisconsin and what the leadership of Wisconsin can bring in dollars and cents to the farmer.

During 1922 there were 26,000 head of cattle shipped out of Wisconsin having an estimated value of $3,000,000. Rock county sold 1652 head and ranked among the first 10 Wisconsin counties in sales. The trip to the west special should aid in the increase of these sales. Never has there been such an active demand for dairy stock.

TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING SAT.

The Rock county junior club committee will meet in the court house on Saturday afternoon to arrange for the pig club delivery day, which will be held in Janesville, June 2. All members on the club committee are urged by Chairman J. A. Craig to be present.

A report will also be made on the work in the dairy, calf, hog-beef and sheep clubs. The new corn club is being pushed by J. K. Arnot, leader. The meeting will be held at 2 p. m.

COUNTY SHOW HERDS
SUBJECT OF MEETING

What Rock county will do on the 1923 show circuit will be discussed at a meeting called for Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Gazette office library.

Representative breeders and farmers are expected to attend and effect preliminary organization and formulate plans for the Rock county exhibits. It is planned to take a circuit of state fairs and inter-state exhibitions. Breeders of cattle, swine and sheep are urged to attend.

The Milking Shorthorn breeders will again enter for the International Livestock show and it is hoped to collect a representative array of stock for the National Dairy show to be held in Syracuse, N. Y.

Oppose Use of Set Nets; Boost Big "Ike" Meeting

Going on record as opposing the use of set nets or rock river, favoring the purchase by the state of the "Northern Lakes park," and making further plans for the biggest sportsmen's gathering of the year, the members of the Janesville chapter of the American Legion held a split session at city hall Tuesday night.

The set net proposition brought forth wide and varied discussion as to their good and evil. The chapter will take up the matter further with the state conservation commission, mainly because of reports sitting in that part of the state Lake Winona, Augsburg and others being harm to game fishing, though there were some differences of opinion expressed. Rumors that game fish are being caught in the lake and are sold in Illinois particularly Rockford, at Koshkonong fish, probably will be traced.

After Recent Crowd.

Next Tuesday's public meeting at the high school, preceded by a banquet, is being pushed with vigor to make the attendance of the sportsmen for such a gathering as will be held in Wisconsin. The mass meeting in the high school auditorium will be free. The banquet in the school cafeteria, initiating that place into public use, will be part of the regular program of the Twilight club and others will be a dollar a plate.

Dr. Preston Bradley, president of the American Legion, will speak at the meeting. Dr. Bradley speaks best when given a big audience, everything is being done to pack the auditorium to capacity.

Have 165 Members Here.

The coming here of Dr. Bradley is considered one of the big things of the year for Janesville. It is an unusual thing for him to come to this city.

The Isaac Walton chapters of Edgerton, Fort Atkinson and Stoughton are to be invited to send delegations to the banquet. If a plan of National Executive Secretary C. F. Bennett of the Walton League of America is carried out, the occasion will be made a charter presentation to those three cities. Mr. Bennett will be present at next Tuesday's meeting.

It was announced Tuesday night that the local organization now has a membership of 165. It started but a few months ago with 51.

Elaborate Prom Decorations Begin

Many things that will make Friday night's social event in the social season, the many decorations being planned, with other various committees functioning so that the success of the entertainment is assured. Large tree branches are being brought in, decorated with pink and green crepe paper and will form a definite decoration scheme, which will include having the orchestra in a special stand about the center post of the two gymnasiums, which will be opened into one another.

Fresh Pineapples Now An Inexpensive Treat

Delicious Sun-Matured Cuban Fruit
Now Abundant in All Markets

This is the time to enjoy fresh pineapples. They are arriving by fast steamer daily from the haciendas of Cuba where the world's finest pineapples are grown.

A few years ago a pineapple was a luxury afforded only by the very rich. Today modern methods of growing and transportation have made this most delicious of all tropical fruits a treat within reach of everybody. A few cents buys a beautiful big, scented pineapple at your grocer's.

Try pineapple for breakfast. Use it for salads, desserts, pies, puddings, tarts, etc. We have prepared little book of recipes for serving the fresh fruit. Write for it. It is free. Put up pineapples at home; now while they are abundant and cheap. Home canned pineapples are preferred because they retain the flavor and tartness of the fresh fruit.

You should eat more fresh pineapples because they are healthful. They contain a ferment, called bromelin, which aids digestion, and abound in fruit acids and mineral salts which are beneficial to the human system.

Eat Pineapples Often for Health

Now that they are abundant, and cost so little, you should serve fresh pineapples often. Your family will enjoy them. They are easy to prepare if you use the way shown here, taught us by the Cuban housewife.

FIFTH COMMERCIAL CONTEST SATURDAY

Ninety-Six to Compete at Whitewater—Gregg Will Speak.

Whitewater.—An event of particular interest to every high school in the state is scheduled to take place at the Whitewater State Normal School on Saturday, May 12, for the annual state commercial contest for high school students will determine the 1923 high school champions in shorthand, typewriting, rapid calculation and penmanship. It is statewide importance is indicated in that 96 schools of the state are represented by contestants in one or more events. Two hundred and sixty-four students of the 21 districts will compete for honors Saturday.

Wisconsin Commercial Contests have attained a national reputation because of the completeness of the organization and the high records of excellence which are made each year.

Wisconsin's state commercial contest was first held at Whitewater in 1919 at the invitation of the commercial department of the Whitewater normal school. Each year it has continued to be held under the same auspices.

State divided into 21 districts.

State contest committee is divided into 21 districts and a preliminary contest in shorthand, typewriting, penmanship and rapid calculation is held in each of the twenty-one centers on the last Saturday in April. The 1923 centers were: Ashland, Black River Falls, Chippewa Falls, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Huron, Janesville, Madison, Manitowoc, Marinette, New Richmond, Oshkosh, Platteville, Portage, Racine, Rhinelander, Stevens Point, Superior, Tomah, Waukesha and Wausau.

On May 12, the 21 contestants begin to arrive on Friday. All available hotel rooms and available rooming house facilities are soon taken.

And from behind closed doors is heard an incessant click-click-click as contestants limber up fingers and get their steeds warmed up and ready for the battle royal. As contestants hurried about with their typewriters and anxious teacher coaches hover over those typist jacks, the bystander is reminded of a race track and thoroughbred.

John R. Gregg, New York City, author of the Gregg Shorthand System, has accepted an invitation to be present at the contest and address the contestants.

MC KEEVER SEES RACE PROGRESSING

Has Faith That Righteousness Is Guiding World Higher.

Despite the unfavorable weather Dr. William A. McKeever concluded his day in Janesville with two successful meetings Tuesday night. The supper conference in the Methodist church under joint auspices of six Sunday schools was attended by 135.

About 200 gathered in the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Sept. 1, M. Dorrons of the vocational school presided and a preliminary program of several selections was furnished by the high school band under the direction of Ralph Jack.

Owing to the size of the audience Dr. McKeever did not speak from the subject which had been announced and discussed in an illuminating manner the psychology of childhood and youth.

"Our task," he said, "is not to change human nature but to understand it. It begins now, making progress in improvement. Righteousness is normal, goodness is normal. Sin and crime are the result of repressions, perversions and retardations. We must learn how to direct the thought currents of childhood and youth, and we can do it if we set ourselves to the task."

Heads Vocational School.

The speaker took occasion to express hearty appreciation of the work of the vocational school which he said he had observed with great interest while stopping at a hotel during the last few days.

"There is just as much poetry in being a Christian as in being a musician or a writer of poetry."

He pleaded for a greater appreciation of the common tasks of life and greater belief in the potentialities inherent in common vocations.

Ends 10-Day Tour Friday.

The speaker was served by the Circle No. 3 which Mrs. H. W. Kramer is chairman. E. F. Hocking, president, Rock County Sunday school association, presided. Dr. McKeever took for his subject, "How to Organize a Sunday School." Dominant Forces in Your City," urging that the only way to achieve this is to organize a cooperative movement and promote a unified program. He outlined a plan for a Christian Workers' Council, and also recommended the formation of union young people's organization.

"The Christian young people," he said, "should dominate the social ideals of the youth of your city, and they can do it if they organize and go about it in the right way."

Dr. McKeever was in Edgerton, Wednesday, and will give a series of talks in Whitewater Thursday. The ten day tour will be concluded at Port Atkinson Friday.

Sponsors Named for Swift Visit

Twenty women, representative of various organizations and church denominations, are to serve as moral sponsors for the series of talks to be given here May 26 and 27, by Dr. Edith Hale Swift, New York, lecturer for the American Social Hygiene Association. Dr. Swift is being brought to this city by the education department of the Y. W. C. A. and the cooperation of all other interested groups has been enlisted with the hope of making the project the biggest possible success.

Co-operative efforts of dentists and physicians in providing further safeguards for patients were urged by Dr. Lloyd Gardner, head of the dental department of the Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn., speaking Tuesday night at the Grand hotel to 90 physicians and dentists at a joint meeting of the Rock County Medical and Medical societies. Members of the two professions were present from Monroe, Madison, Delavan and other, neighboring cities outside the county.

Others and other interested women are invited to a luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. Saturday, May 26, along with Dr. Swift, for a special address Saturday night, and there will be a community mass meeting for women in the high school auditorium Sunday afternoon.

The committee of 20 sponsors is made up as follows: Madam Mrs. Palmer, John B. Geill, G. B. Thuerer, J. R. Jensen, Charles Dickhorn, Harry Shurtliff, Dr. George C. Hartman, F. C. Volkert, G. W. Athan, Howard Green, Edward Buss, Walter Helms, Edmund P. Ehrlberg, Frank W. Van Kirk, E. J. Manning, C. S. Atwood, F. S. Barnes, Charles A. Sunborn.

"BELLA DONNA" WILL SHOW AT MAJESTIC

"Bella Donna," acclaimed by many as the greatest picture of 1923 to show at the Majestic theater for five days starting Saturday at 10 a. m. Shows on Saturday and Sunday will run continuously from 11 a. m. to 8 p. m. An innovation in the city. There will be special music and altogether the performance will be a magnificent one.

It is Pola Negri's first American production, a gigantic affair, and is said to be much better than anything else in the famous actress' film career. It is a first Paramount picture, and is that concern's latest big release.

RED CROSS MEETING AT MADISON SOON

June 24 to July 21 are the dates set for the annual meeting of the Red Cross chapter workers according to notice received by Miss Hattie Alden, secretary of the city and county associations. Miss Alden does not plan to attend for that length of time.

She spoke of the need of the X-ray to make proper dentures. Negri says that dentists should keep their work and spend money to maintain a high level of practice. Unlike the medical men, dentists have few good journals to digest, most of them are trade journals and writers have axes to grind. Dr. Gardner said.

In speaking of post operactive X-rays she said there is nothing better from a psychological standpoint than to show a patient that the gums, from which a tooth has been pulled, are free from roots. He spoke of dentists being as much a part of medicine as the eye and ear man, being surgeons of the mouth, and urged the dentists to adopt the same clean habits in operating as do surgeons.

Give Best Service.

He pictures dentists as being too timid, saying that in each case they should render the patient the best service possible regardless of the ability to pay. Most patients wait for a dentist to come to him to advise.

Few dentists in this section use an operating table for their work instead of a chair, but it is used almost all the time by Dr. Gardner at Mayo Clinic. A large number of slides of intense interest to both professions and which show the relationship of the work of the dentist to that of the physician, and the second floor of the post office has blanks for bonuses for Kansas service men. She also says that mothers and wives of soldiers from ruined areas also in action are eligible for the 100% bonus, and she has the blanks.

What a great pleasure to announce that on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week I will present to you one of the greatest pictures in history, "Safety Last," with Harold Lloyd.

You have seen Harold Lloyd in several of his late special pictures such as "High and Dizzy," "Sailor-Made-Man," "Grandma's Boy" and "Dr. Jack," but when you see his very latest, "Safety Last," in seven reels, these previous pictures will look to you no world a $200 Plus Coat as compared with a $12,000 Russian Sable Wrap.

The highest rental paid on any Harold Lloyd picture previous to "Safety Last" was $400, but for this one we had to pay the enormous price $3,000. We screened this picture before we bought it. I tell you my word of honor that I was so enthralled and sold with it that I at once decided not to let it go if it cost me $2,000.

"Safety Last" just finished a two week engagement at the Strand Theatre, Milwaukee, and also a ten day engagement at two theatres in Madison simultaneously, the Majestic and the New Madison. Reports received from Mr. Saxe of Milwaukee and Mr. Fisher of Madison, as follows: "The picture sold out entirely in Milwaukee and Madison and we had to have a special forced repair half the seating capacity. Oh, boy, it's a knock-out. The last word in comedy and thrills. Be sure and advise your people who have been trying to stay away, as we had several people who fainted away during our screening. Prepare yourself with medical provision as it may come in handy during the engagement of this production."

What a vow to God or man when the desert calls to love? None but Norma could create a role so real, so impulse-charged.

CHEVROLET HITS 250 A DAY MARK

Expect to Reach 300 This Month—Fisher Plant Is Booming.

With both assembly lines running full tilt, production at the Chevrolet plant this week reached the 250 mark with an average of 230 cars-a-day for the last two weeks. Sales figures of the company say that the schedule will go to 300 cars a day this month.

The week will mark an important change in the Fisher Body company, bodies being received which are only made up with the frame and metal work without the upholstering and other equipment. The Fisher plant has been producing between 50 and 70 bodies a day for Chevrolet and is equipped to increase this.

Will Change Lines

The lines will be changed early this month to run through the bodies "in white" to receive the 11 coats of paint and varnish with sub-assembly work on upholstering. This will bring into use the eight spray booths and the two big ovens. One carload of the metal and frame bodies had been received and will be run through the coming week.

The next step is to build up an organization or the assembly of the bodies, as they come "knock-down," to be assembled, painted and completed in the Janesville plant.

Fisher to Add 100

"We expect about 100 more people will be added to the force here sometime during the month," states A. J. Brandt, superintendent. "It is the plan to gradually change to the completing of the bodies in white and then to the assembly of the complete body."

The metal bodies are first treated with an anti-coat, then the metal is silvered, then painting them the "body-in-white." In time the entire west end of the Fisher plant will be given over to assembly and production work.

More Women Employed

A number of women have been added to the factory force, both the Fisher and Janesville plants.

The women in the Fisher plant are washing the windows of the closed cars in preparation for final inspection and in the Chevrolet doing sub-assembly work.

E. C. Chidester, formerly in Faro, N. D., is the new factory representative of the Chevrolet plant here, covering the territory of "Madison-west." Sales representative report an increasing demand for the Janesville made Chevrolets.

Employe Must Pay for Damage

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) After much tangle in the case of Brittingham and Hixon Lumber company against John Shields, one of its employees, the case was settled by Justice of the Peace John C. Linn in justice court, and the company was given a judgment for $119.00 for broken radiator. The decision was a victory for both sides however.

In the winter, Mr. Shields, who ordinarily drove a small truck for the concern, drove one of the large trucks into the barn for that purpose, in order to get a radio. Unfortunately, while he drove, he lost control and smashed through the starting apparatus, which the company requested him to pay for. He refused to do so, and the company attempted to garnish his wages. Being what legal minds know as a tort action, this could not be done, and Shields' attorney succeeded in getting the radio free.

The theory that the truck stuck in the mud was part of a caravan of racing leads is exploded by inspection of the basement in the building on the hill place in which it was stored. Sheriff Wylie said the room wouldn't hold much more liquor than was loaded on the one truck.

The sheriff has little to work on in finding the three men who, according to the police, were in the Cooperative store which Mr. Harmon was forced to make good out of his own pocket; George Quade, $11.49 for a grocery account, W. H. Brown, $7.50 for a package of tobacco, and James Young, both $1.49. Frank Britts, $1.49; Badger Tobacco Co., Milwaukee, vs. Macie and Tatman, on account, $156.94; Frank Britts vs. Roy Worthington, past chancellor.

The fact that it turned off cool Wednesday morning will probably save many trees," declared M. S. Kellogg, Janesville, nurseryman. "The buds were damp and if it had turned off hot the fruit would have been all gone."

The cherry and plum trees and fruit bushes are now well in bud and suffered most damage. Apple trees are beginning to show pink buds and were not harmed.

Fruit Crops Unharmed.

The storm did little or no damage to the field crops. The sun and wind, however, spelled a good day for many farmers, dissipating, however, for several hours at the point of a revolver they could not describe one of the men.

In the matter of wages the first step was to call on 2,500 miners for statements showing every change that has been made in wage scales affecting the whole of one occupation or more than one occupation since January 1, 1912.

In the fields where the operators have had agreements with the miners' union it is comparatively easy to furnish this information, but in the non-union fields wage changes have been made more frequently and have varied almost from mine to mine. The next step was to call for the actual wages paid every miner at each pay period during the calendar year 1912.

Home Sweet Home

May 8 was the hundredth anniversary of a song which as much if not more than any other, has a universal vogue in the Anglo Saxon world and has been translated in almost every language of both civilized and uncivilized peoples. So we have been remembering its author in the past week with reminiscence and story and making plans for restoration of a home in which he spent his early life. We have been told a good many tales about John Howard Payne—how he was far from home and friends, and in his sadness and nostalgia wrote this song that "reached the heart." "Home Sweet Home." It is a strange thing too, that the song should have appealed to the Anglo Saxon, since of all races and nations he is the colonizer and traveler, a trader and a roamer, searching all the world for new lands and seas and peoples, living in America, in Australia and New Zealand, with equal determination to love and accommodate himself to the new home, no matter where. But in his subconscious mind there clings to him the old ways, the memory of the hearth and home, never mind how humble and dreary it may have been in reality, for it is still the visioned dream that it is there and somewhere, it is hard to find in a family nowadays children near the parental roof, or within easy reach of the old home place. Each death notice or heads of families or members who have remained on the farm or in the "Old Home Town," tell the story of John from Seattle and Joseph from Boston, of Julia from Atlanta or Margaret from Los Angeles, hastening to be present at the last rites. We scatter and live far from the home place but—and there is the reason for the song—home is visualized as in childhood in its memory of parental care and attention and the soul seeks utterance in the simple and tender strains of a melody that has become the universal symbol for the aspirations of the human family.

To us it will ever be the song given a world by John Howard Payne. Its melody, composed by Sir Henry Rowley Bishop, one of the early and lesser composers, but who at the time of its first singing was the vogue in London, is an adaptation of an older folk song. But as a writer in the Boston Transcript says, it was one of those melodies that "is in the air," like many others and some of the best of De Koven and Gilbert and others who have been accused of revamping old tunes out of which to make new ones. There is such a thing as heart-harmonies—"the music in the air"—that appeals as nothing else can to the simple, universal human emotions. Payne wrote the libretto for an opera—he was an actor in New York first and later in London and had seen the piece "Clari, the Maid of Milan," in Paris when it was presented as a ballet. He revamped it as an opera and Bishop wrote the score. Then on the evening of May 8, 1823, it was given its premiere at the Covent Garden theater in London. And the song, "Home Sweet Home" was sung for the first time by Miss Maria Tree.

Home may have lost much of its pristine humbleness and its poverty may have long since fled. Few there are who inhabit the house of their fathers, but it is true that every tongue, cultured or savage, civilized or barbaric, has its expression for the emotion of homesickness. Because that is so the words and music of "Home Sweet Home" express that emotion like nothing else ever written before or since, have given it a rare sweetness and beauty.

Poetry did not write it when he was homesick nor was he among pleasures and palaces. His later life found him poor and humble enough, a consul of the United States in Tunis.

The song, not as Payne wrote it, according to those who have delved into records as one digs into long buried cities and tombs, was first given to the world by Thomas Bayly as a Sicilian air. The ballet from which the opera of "Clari" was made was written by that Kreutzer for whom a sonata was dedicated by Beethoven and more or less immortalized by Tolstoy in "The Kreutzer Sonata," but whatever may have been its source or its history, we shall remember it always, here and in other lands as the work of the young actor of and from America.

ALL THE FACTS ABOUT COAL

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—Between June, 1917, and November, 1921, there were eight separate governmental investigations of the coal industry, the published records of which fill 20 or more large volumes. On Sept. 22 next, a ninth inquiry and survey will be completed, and if all the statistics and other data that are developed are published in full, together with the conclusions and recommendations of the commission, the result will be another five-foot shelf of literature on coal.

Congress, the president and the public will then have available every essential fact pertaining to the great fuel industry. Whether all this will bring about solution of the coal problem remains to be seen, but it is certain that a failure to arrive at solution can not be charged to a lack of information.

Experts agree the investigation now under way is the most comprehensive that has ever been made of a great industry. Every phase of and every step in the production and distribution of coal is being examined. All the pertinent material that has been gathered for years by such government agencies as the Bureau of Census, the Bureau of Mines, the Federal Trade Commission, and the Geological Survey, is being assembled and studied. The most exhaustive questionnaires have been sent to operators, wholesalers and retail dealers.

In the matter of wages the first step was to call on 2,500 miners for statements showing every change that has been made in wage scales affecting the whole of one occupation or more than one occupation since January 1, 1912.

In the fields where the operators have had agreements with the miners' union it is comparatively easy to furnish this information, but in the non-union fields wage changes have been made more frequently and have varied almost from mine to mine. The next step was to call for the actual wages paid every miner at each pay period during the calendar year 1912.

SYNOPSIS. Peter Sheridan, young New York lawyer, has moved to Arizona because of his health. He has chosen Chico Mesa, his ranch, is near Ghost Mountain, on which he and his foreman, Red Jackson, discover a woman, though, however, she is not the woman he was looking for. The woman is a Chinaman who is rescued by Sheridan and installed as cook at the ranch. Peter's wife, Anna, is away. The Ghost Mountain is inhabited by a young woman and a giant Swede maid, Thora. Hearing that Hollister had his gang and Red plan to rescue the women, they made their way to the cabin on the mountain and are entertained. The raiders are captured and are taken off by the women. Returning from a visit to the girl of Ghost Mountain, Sheridan and Jackson find the ranch has been raided and Quong is missing. Peter takes action. They follow and rescue Quong. It is apparent that the Chinaman has some secret which Hollister and his gang of rustlers wish to obtain.

There she saw Thora, flung into a corner, bound hand and foot. Thora cried to her and a man struck her savagely in the mouth. He was a Mexican, as were all save Hollister, and his two complices were split and bleeding. This fugitive was out of place, chairs on the floor, the lamp broken, rugs scrambled in muddle evidence of the fight that Thora had made.

A man with a lantern went into the bedrooms and returned with an armful of clothes, offering them to Hollister.

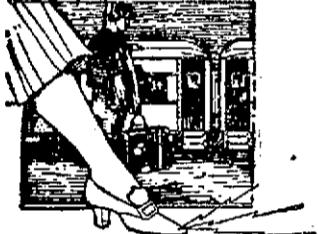

"Will you come as you are?" demanded Hollister to Mary. In his mind, "Or will you go in there quietly and put them on first? Don't worry to fess up in the mirror. You can use my eyes later."

He set her down and she stood quietly, knowing her plight, but gazing him such a look of utter loathing that he turned away as she went into the room.

"You can tell that tenderfoot lover of hers. If he comes," he said to the bound but unconquered Thora, glaring defiance from her corner. "That I have taken his sweet heart. I may send her back when I get ready to do so. All right, boys, get ready to clear out. We want to get clear before it's light."

Mary came out, pale, her lips close set. Hollister caught her wrists and bound them with a leather strip. Then he picked her up and started for the door. Mary looked across his shoulder at Thora. She did not venture to speak the words she tried to utter with her eyes.

TODAY'S RECIPES
PRESSED MEAT PATTIES
Five pounds of lean meat, one pound of bacon, two onions, two stalks and leaves of two bunches of celery, salt to taste, four cups water, four hard boiled eggs, three-quarter of an envelope of gelatin. Put first five ingredients on back of stove and cook slowly six hours. Strain the liquor off the meat, add the eggs and the gelatin. Mix the meat to size. Slice the celery in the bottom of the pan, put the meat in the meat and turn the hot liquor over it. Cool.

HAMBURG TARTS—One cup raisins, one cup dates, one cup figs, one cup hickory nuts, juice of two oranges, juice of two lemons, one and one-half cups water, one cup and one-half cups sugar. Chop dates, raisins, figs, add the water and cook 15 minutes, then add the sugar and cook 15 minutes longer, add fruit juices until it is like jam, add water when cool. Cut pie crust with oblong cookie cutter, put the filling between two pieces of pie crust, add a few drops of orange juice, bake in oven at 350° for 45 minutes. This recipe was brought from England by one of our doughboys.

APPLE SAUCE CAKE—One cup brown sugar, one-half cup butter, one cup unsweetened apple sauce, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon cloves, one pinch of salt, one pint (two cups) of flour. Cream sugar and butter. Add applesauce in which the soda has been dissolved, then the raisins chopped fine, then sift in the flour and salt and bake in slow oven.

SUGGESTIONS

Washing Enamelled Woodwork—Kerosene is good for removing smoke and dirt from enameled woodwork, as it does not injure the glossy surface or the point as soap will do.

An Emergency Shelf in the Pantry—A necessity in every home. All housewives know this. True hospitality not only welcomes the unexpected guest, but conveys from him an experience of his sentiment was unexpended. The successful hostess must be prepared for emergency meals which do not look the part.

Answers for Scouring—There is nothing better than fine ashes to scour out a pot that food has been burned in.

BROKEN-HEARTED—There is little chance that you could ever be happy with your partner if he is not a good boy. What would you advise me to do? Should I stick to this young man or get out with different boys?

GOLDEN LOCKS—Unless you have promised to marry the young man who loves you, there is no reason why you should not go with other young men as well. I would advise you to have other friends.

POLENTZ ZITA—Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl in my teens. I am considered very neat and pretty and always try to make myself look neat and pretty.

NOT KNOWING YOU—I am a young girl in my teens. I am considered very neat and pretty and always try to make myself look neat and pretty.

POLENTZ ZITA—Not knowing you, it is difficult for me to say why you are not popular. Perhaps your girl friends are more or less right in what they say. It is not necessary to be really good, but it is to be considerate to young men. So often I have noticed that the wall flowers at a dance are so afraid of appearing eager that they appear cold and indifferent and scare away partners. When a young man comes toward you smile so that he will stop and ask you to dance and do not turn your head aside as if his invitation would be distasteful to you.

Four Yankee Golfers Stick in Running of British Meet

OUIMET AND ROTAN PLAY BRILLIANTLY; TITLE HOLDER OUT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Deal—Four of the invading Americans remained in the running as a result of the play Wednesday in the third round of the British amateur championship. Another American, resident in England, eliminated the present British champion.

The remaining American invaders after the third round were: Francis Ouimet of Boston, who has been made the favorite for the championship by British experts.

George V. Rotan of Texas, whose low medal score Tuesday attracted attention.

O. F. Willing of Portland, Ore. John F. Neville of San Francisco. By defeating E. W. M. Holderness, the present British title holder, Douglas Grant, former Californian now living in England, also remains in the competition.

In the fourth round Thursday morning the field will comprise 32 players, the four visiting Americans and one American resident and 27 British.

America is now without a representative in the lower half of the draw. Ouimet will play his team mate Neville in the fourth round. Dr. Willing will play R. W. Crumback, and Rotan will meet W. L. Illope.

The fifth round will be played Thursday afternoon, the sixth round Friday morning, the semi-finals that afternoon, and the 36 hole finals Saturday.

Give Ouimet chance.

All but one of the surviving Americans are in the upper half of the draw. Willing is the only one remaining in the lower half. The British strength is better distributed.

Ouimet, who defeated Bernard Darwin on Tuesday by a score of 3 to 2, is still considered by the British on-lookers to have the best chance of any of the Americans to win but Tuesday night the sharpies had begun to look upon him as a "joker" and an up-and-coming hope in the British title. On Monday Rotan turned in the lowest card of the first round play, and on Tuesday he played better than on Monday, going out in 34 and disposing of his opponent, Leslie Schen, at the 12 hole, where he was 7 up.

The Texan flashed down the field like a arrow, scoring four birdies and five pars on the first nine holes and another birdie and another par on the remaining three. Twice he missed short putts, or he would have recorded the astounding score of 82 for the outward journey, with six of the nine holes under par.

Willing slipped.

Calm and careful Dr. Willing, who studies his every lie, as though it were a tooth in the mouth of a patient in his Oregon dental chair and the terrain around the ball just as carefully, had a tough struggle with Robert Grant, Jr., whom he ousted from the tournament by a score of 2 to 1. They played out the ninth neck and neck; their drives, their approaches and their putts all seeming so similar in distance, and directions as to be almost uncanny. Had Willing slipped once he would have been gone. But he never slipped.

Johnston in Hard Luck.

Jimmy Johnston paid his toll, but in his last hole, while his opponent, Douglas Grant, played well and with good luck, Johnston had one opportunity to catch up at the fourteenth, when Grant dubbed his drive, but here Johnston followed suit. He made a brave effort to escape defeat at the seventeenth with a curving putt down the concave slope of the green, but the ball just missed the cup.

PROPOSE DRASIC POOL HALL RULES

New License Ordinance Would Clamp Lid on Gambling, Minors.

Proprietors of Janesville billiard and pool rooms and bowling alleys would be required to post $1,000 bond and pay city license fee of $5 per table or alley, under terms of the new licensing ordinance which comes up for final action by the council at its next regular meeting, May 21. The measure also affects societies and clubs maintaining billiard or pool tables for hire, as far as the bond and license fees of $5 are concerned, but, does not affect those hours of operating that tables, whereas those in it, for pleasure or gain, must remain closed between the hours of 11 p.m. and 6 a.m.

The ordinance carries with it a penalty of from $5 to $25 a day, besides making the licensee subject to loss of his permit in case of any violations of rules, laws or regulations.

Minors Are Barred.

The ordinance is drastic in its regulatory provisions, one of the most important of which is Section 12, barring minors under the age of 18 from using any tables or alleys without the written consent of parent or guardian. This section also prevents minors from loitering in such establishments without such written consent, with the exception that they may enter as long as may be necessary in making a lawful purchase of merchandise.

Licenses must be American citizens and on their applications must state their ages and previous experience in conducting pool rooms and bowling alleys. Screens and other obstructions would not be permitted and the establishment would have to be well ventilated and kept sanitary.

Just Post Licenses.

Before licenses are granted, police would be required to investigate the premises and file a written report with the city clerk as part of the application. It would then be up to the council to grant or refuse the application, and in case of refusal, the user would receive the fee and the clerk would give out the license which would have to be kept posted in a conspicuous place in the establishment.

The full license fee would be charged for the whole or any fraction of a year, all expiring on June 30. Licenses granted prior to July 1, 1922, would not expire until June 30, 1924.

Users of licenses would have to come before the council first. Applications for license would be made to the city clerk and by him submitted to the council.

Lid on Gambling.

Other features of the proposed ordinance are:

Section 14—"No one shall be the possessor of money, merchandise or credit, nor shall cards, raffles, or other games of chance, or gambling in any form, be permitted in any room or place where any licensed table or alley is located, nor shall there be any open or secret connection with any other room or place where persons congregate for gambling or immoral purposes."

Section 17—"Any license  may be forfeited or revoked by a majority vote of the council for any disorderly or immoral conduct permitted on the premises covered by the license, or for the violation of any rules, regulations, ordinances or laws governing or applying to any such licensed tables or alleys, or the premises  provided, however, that  the licensee be given an opportunity to be heard. In case of the revocation of any such license, no portion of the license fee shall be returned."

Sponsored by Jacobs.

The ordinance is supported by Councilman George W. Jacobs, head of the council's law and police committee, and was drawn up by City Attorney Roger G. Cunningham and Mr. Jacobs after information had been gathered from many other Wisconsin cities, practically all of which license their billiard and pool halls and bowling alleys. In only one Wisconsin city is the license for any longer than a table or alley, according to City Clerk E. T. Sartell. This is Appleton, where the fee is $2.

The feature of the ordinance is that a court conviction would not be necessary to revoke a man's license, although it would be necessary for a forfeiture of his $500 bond. The council at any time could cancel or permit if information related to any regulation or law being violated.

Chief Clerk Newman has sought this regulation ever since he became chief of police here, stating at the council meeting, Monday night, that it was only for this reason he wanted it. He made this explanation in suggesting that the license fee be made little less than $5 a table or alley.
